PREFACE

For the scope and title of this work and for its history, as well as for the criteria I have tried to follow in the selection and arrangement of the manuscripts listed or described, I refer the reader to the prefaces of my previous volumes. The present volume corresponds roughly to the second third of the typescript I sent to the Warburg Institute in 1978, of which the first third appeared as Vol. III in 1983 (the index to Vol. III is published separately). This fourth volume contains the second part of the material collected in libraries outside Italy and covers countries from Great Britain to Spain, according to the alphabetical order of their names in English. As a result of additional work done by me in the meantime, of recent catalogues and other publications, and of extensive information sent to me by other scholars and by many librarians, a number of corrections and additions have been sent to the Warburg Institute over recent years. Most of this material has been incorporated in the text, but some has been added at the end of the volume in an appendix, which is followed by the index to this volume.

Concerning the general importance or usefulness of the information I am trying to present, I should like to add another observation, which as far as I know has not been made before. Unlike an archival document, an author's draft or desk copy, or a professor's or student's notebook, a calligraphic manuscript written for a private or institutional library constitutes a form of publication, though much more limited than the form to which we are accustomed; and this is true even in those cases where a text is preserved only in a very few manuscripts. The photographic reproduction of such manuscripts makes it possible for us to study, cite or even edit the texts contained in them. These texts, though rare, are an integral part of the literary production of the period which we are studying, and they may be interesting or even important, in spite of their rarity. We must decide in each case whether they deserve to be edited in full; but we must realize that in printing such manuscript texts we are not really publishing them for the first time, but rather transferring them from an older and more limited form of publication to a more modern form of publication that makes them available to a much wider public of potential readers.

The long time that has elapsed between my first attempts to collect this material and its final publication, which in many cases amounts to four or even five decades, has disclosed many gaps and errors on my part and many instances where well-known texts have remained anonymous or were attributed to wrong authors, something I have tried to correct as often as I could. Humanist palaeography has made great progress, and it has become possible to identify the date and place where a manuscript was written and the scribe who copied it with much greater precision than before. Although my eyes are not sharp enough to see this by myself, I have profited from the help and the publications of other scholars who are more capable than I in this respect. The new technique of codicology has also been developed for a more detailed material description of manuscripts. I have profited from it as much as possible, but I must observe that it has not only greatly slowed down the cataloguing of manuscripts, but also tends to pay insufficient attention to their textual content. Since my main purpose is to disclose this content, and since the time available to me has been limited, I have felt free to follow my own rather primitive method of describing the content of manuscripts, leaving further details to others.

Moreover, the state and the contents of the libraries which I have been trying to describe have changed over the years. Many institutional libraries have changed their names or have been absorbed by others. There have been regrettable losses and dislocations, due not only to wars but also to thefts and natural catastrophes. Many private libraries have been scattered. On the other hand, there have been new acquisitions, with which it is not always easy to keep up. Finally, some libraries have changed their entire shelf-mark systems, and such a change tends to make obsolete all lists and descriptions based on the older shelf-marks. In some instances, I have been able to add the new shelf-marks or to give concordances, but it is hard to find a complete remedy in such cases.

A special problem arises from the fact that many new catalogues have been published for some of the collections I described before the catalogues were available. I was encouraged by most librarians not to omit the manuscripts later described in printed catalogues, since these catalogues are not always complete or widely available, but rather to refer to them and to collate them with my material. My listings will at least attract the attention of interested scholars, and in some instances I give details not mentioned in the catalogues, especially in cases where I have seen the manuscripts. As in the previous volumes, I separate for each collection the descriptions of manuscripts seen by me or others, sometimes on microfilm, and the lists of manuscripts based on printed or unpublished catalogues or inventories. Whereas I usually omit those collections which are completely described in reasonably good printed catalogues, I include full reports on the British Library and on the University Library in Leiden. Practically all their manuscripts are listed in print in some way, and the British Library has recently published an author index in ten volumes. But the printed catalogues of these two important libraries were compiled according to fonds over a long period, so that they are scattered and overlapping, sometimes inadequate or oddly arranged. Therefore it seemed useful to give a complete, though at times superficial, survey of their holdings in the field I attempt to cover.

A special challenge is presented by the publications, some of them recent, listed in the Preliminary Note, which cover manuscripts in many different libraries having a common provenance or a common content. Most of them are reliable, especially those of Csapodi, Derolez, Pellegrin, Roddewig, and Van Egmond, and I have gladly used their information to fill my gaps. I cannot say the same of Bursill-Hall. He called my attention to a few manuscripts or even libraries I had overlooked, and his identifications of anonymous grammatical texts are on the whole, if not always, dependable. On the other hand, he usually does not give the title of a work as it appears in a manuscript but substitutes his own titles, without saying so, and he gives no information on colophons, or on catalogues or other descriptions. In many cases where I could check his data against printed sources or my own notes, I found that he gives wrong or antiquated shelf-marks, and occasionally a wrong content or date. I therefore decided never to cite a manuscript on his authority alone, but had all manuscripts that were unknown to me verified by the respective librarians or other local scholars.

I wish to extend again my warmest thanks to institutions and persons who have made the completion and publication of this work possible or have contributed to it in a variety of ways. Many of them have been listed in the preface to Vol. III or are named in the text of this volume with the information they supplied for specific collections or individual manuscripts. I hope I shall be excused if I do not repeat my thanks to each of them in this preface, or if the length of time that has intervened since the beginning of this project and my advancing age have caused me to forget some names which I should have remembered. I wish to emphasize once more that this is a cooperative project. I have tried to collect, to sort and to arrange as much pertinent information as possible, but I could not have carried out my task without the continuing help and support of the entire community of interested scholars and librarians.

The Warburg Institute has given constant encouragement to the project through its directors, from Fritz Saxl, Henri Frankfort, Gertrud Bing to Sir Ernst Gombrich and J. B. Trapp. It has taken an active part in the editorial arrangements and helped with the editing and proof-reading, which has been done for all volumes by Anne Marie Meyer, recently with the help of Mrs. Judith Wardman. The Warburg Institute has also contributed to the costs of printing and agreed to act as co-publisher. The publishing house of E. J. Brill has taken an active interest in the publication and diffusion of the work through its directors from Mr. F. C. Wieder and Mr. T. A. Edridge to Dr. W. Backhuys, and the production of this volume has been directed by Mrs. Elisabeth Erdman-Visser. I am indebted for a number of grants or other assistance to the American Philosophical Society, to Columbia University, to the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, to the Scuola Normale Superiore in Pisa, and to the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. The section on Poland benefited from a travel grant of the Ford Foundation in 1958. The National Endowment for the Humanities, through a generous grant made in 1976 and extended to 1980, enabled me to complete the typescript of this volume, as well as of the preceding and following ones. I was assisted in this task by Douglas Andrews, Constantin Fasolt, and James Hankins. The Renaissance Society of America helped the project by administering this grant and in a number of other ways. I am indebted to its secretaries, Miss Marjorie Riley and Dr. Debra Szybinski. A generous fellowship awarded to me by the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation in Chicago helped me to revise the original typescript of this volume, as submitted in 1978, and to improve it through many corrections and additions. In this revision, I greatly benefited from the competent assistance of Dr. Arthur Field. The MacArthur Fellowship also provided for the preparation of the index to this volume. This index was compiled with the competent help of Dr. Ronald Rainey. The references in Hungarian were checked by Professor László Füstös, those in Polish by Mr. Dwight Van Horn, and those in Portuguese by Dr. Irwin Stern.

A special subsidy for this volume was generously granted by the British Academy. Additional subsidies were received from the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, the Renaissance Society of America, the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, and the Columbia University Council for Research in the Humanities.

I should like to thank a number of cultural agencies in various countries that have been helpful in supplying information or in obtaining access to a number of libraries. I am much obliged to the Institut de Recherche et d'Histoire des Textes in Paris (the late Mlle. J. Vieliard, M. J. Glénisson, Mlle. É. Pellegrin and their associates) for extensive information, to the late Mr. W. H. Bond (Harvard Library) for his notes on manuscripts in American collections, to Columbia University Library for its helpful reference services (Mr. Eugene Sheehy, Miss Eileen McIlvaine), for its excellent collection of manuscript catalogues (Mr. Kenneth Lohf, Mr. Rudolph Ellenbogen) and for its willingness to acquire or borrow important books (Mr. Walter Barnard, Dr. Michael Stoller). For their rich collections of microfilms of both inventories and manuscripts, I am indebted to the Library of Congress, to the Ambrosiana Collection of the University of Notre Dame (Professor A. L. Gabriel, Mr. W. Jordan), to the Vatican microfilm collection of St. Louis University (the Rev. L. Daly and Dr. Charles Ermatinger) and to the Hill Monastic Manuscript Library of St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn. (Professor Julian G. Plante and Brother Gregory Sebastian O.S.B.).

For their support of my project I am indebted to UNESCO (M. Jean d'Ormesson), to the Direzione Generale delle Accademie e Biblioteche in Italy (Dott. Francesco Sisinni), to the Polish Academy of Sciences, to the Cultural Exchange Office (VOKS) in the Soviet Union, to the Instituto para a Alta Cultura (Edgar Santos Mattos), the Ministry of Education (Dr. Luis Silveira, Dr. Fernando Bandeira Ferreira) and the American Embassy (Robert Eberseole, Stephen Baldanza) in Lisbon, to the Dirección General de Archivos y Bibliotecas (Francisco Sintés, Miguel Bordonau), the Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas (Amadeo Tortajada) and the American Embassy (Taylor Peck) in Madrid, and finally to the Monumenta Germaniae Historica in Munich (Horst Fuhrmann).

Among individual scholars to whom I feel indebted, I should like to mention again three great scholars who are no longer living and whom I should like to consider as my teachers and models in the area of manuscript research:

Cardinal Giovanni Mercati, Mons. Auguste Pelzer, and Dr. Ludwig Bertalot. Special thanks are also due to Dr. Bertalot as well as to the late Professor Dean P. Lockwood and to Professor Eugenio Massa for placing at my disposal their descriptions of numerous manuscripts in Spanish libraries and for allowing me to publish them (with due acknowledgment in each case) as an integral part of my work.

Since the preparation of this work extended over so many years, many scholars to whom I am indebted for valuable information are no longer living: Zofia Ameisenowa (Cracow), Marcel Bataillon (Paris), Ludwig Bieler (Dublin), Quirinus Breen (Eugene, Oregon), Beatrice Corrigan (Toronto), Alfred Fairbank (Hove), Doris Hellman (Hunter College), James Hutton (Cornell), Neil Ker (Oxford), Adele Kibre (Seville), Pearl Kibre (City University of New York), Guido Kisch (Basel), Roger Loomis (Columbia), Edward Lowinsky (University of Chicago), Garrett Mattingly (Columbia), A. This work could not have been undertaken or carried out without the active help and co-operation of the librarians in the different countries I have tried to cover. Many of them have actively helped me in my task, either by granting me special facilities or by supplying extensive oral or written information. Having listed them individually in the preface to Vol. III, I shall not repeat their names here, but they are duly mentioned in the text where the respective libraries are described. I should like to express my special thanks for their help to the librarians in Leiden (Dr. Pieter Obbema), at the British Library in London (the late Dr. Cyril Wright and Dr. Daniel Waley), at the Biblioteca Nacional in Madrid (the late José López de Toro, the late Ramón Paz, and Manuel Sánchez Mariana), at the Bodleian Library in Oxford (the late Dr. R. W. Hunt and Dr. Albinia C. de la Mare), and the librarians in Warsaw and Wrocław. This volume is dedicated to all librarians, past and present, who helped me in my work, including those whose names I failed to record or to remember.

The general climate of public and academic opinion during the last few years has not become more favourable to the field and method of study represented by these volumes. Historical studies have been heavily infiltrated by political and ideological, journalistic and faddish concerns, and historical documentation and philological scholarship are held in contempt in the name of "commitment". It is usually not spelled out to what we are committed, and it seems to be forgotten that we might be committed to very wrong and harmful ideas and causes. I have therefore ventured to choose as the motto for this volume a phrase from a letter I once wrote on these matters to a French colleague.

The printed catalogue by M. R. James (A Catalogue of the Medieval Manuscripts in the University Library Aberdeen, Cambridge, 1932) is quite adequate for most of the older mss. Some of his descriptions, especially for the later mss., are sketchy. There are also a few recent acquisitions which are included in a handwritten volume entitled: Mss. Incunabula P & J.

ABERYSTWYTH

National Library of Wales

Most of the mss. are described in printed catalogues: The National Library of Wales, Catalogue of Manuscripts, Vol. I, Additional Mss. in the Collections of Sir John Williams, by John Humphreys Davies, Aberystwyth, 1921. Handlist of Manuscripts in the National Library of Wales, published in parts since 1940 and now going through part 30. The librarian, Mr. E. D. Jones, was good enough to send me a list of the Latin mss. of the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries, which constitute but a small portion of the large collection whose main strength is in Welsh mss. The following mss. are of interest.

Descriptions

s.n. mbr. misc. XV ex. 267 and 114 fols. Old binding. Formerly Phillipps 2175. Old table of contents.

Register of the League of Sixtus IV (1479-96). It contains state letters signed by B. Chalcus, L. Grifus, Barth. Scala, Barth. Ghisilardus, Hier. Balbanus, J. Pontanus, L. Podocatharus, Conradolus Stangha and Nic. de Corrigia. There are also letters of Anellus Archamorus to Ant. Gazus, in Italian (1480, part I, f.90v).

s.n. mbr. misc. XV. Initials. 31 fols. Written by Panigallius Jacobus (f.31v).

f.1-15v. Basil, de studiis, tr. Leon. Brunus, with preface. 16-26v. Aristotle, Oeconomica, tr. id., with preface. Officia et dignitates Romani populi. Cf. In Praise of Italic, catalogue of an exhibition arranged for the National Book League by Wilfrid Blunt, London, 1954, p. 14, no. 4.

Mr. Munby also kindly permitted me to see his material concerning the former Phillipps Collection. It consists of the sales catalogues, with ms. additions, and mainly of a set of 3 vols. entitled Catalogue of Phillipps Manuscripts. The first two of these volumes represent an interleaved copy of the printed catalogue of the Phillipps Collection (up to no. 23837) in which references to the Phillipps sales or present library locations are entered wherever possible. The third volume is handwritten and covers nos. 23838-38628 (with some gaps). The mss. from 23838 to 26179 are also described more fully in another ms. volume, entitled: Catalogue of Mss. in Thirlstaine Library that had never been catalogued by Sir Thos. Phillipps or had lost their Catalogue Numbers made for probate of will, by Edwd. A. Bond. This material enabled me to locate a number of relevant mss. from the Phillipps collection.

CAMBRIDGE

Mr. F. J. Norton

The mss. were kindly described for me by the owner and may be consulted in the Cambridge University Library.

COLCHESTER

Colchester and Essex Museum

The Museum owns a collection of mss. once owned by Baron Peckover and given by Dr. L. F. Penrose. A list of these mss. was kindly supplied to me by the curator, Mr. R. Hull. See now Ker II, pp. 401-408, who does not list the following manuscript:

s.n. cart. XVI in. 51 fols. Decorated. Coats of arms of the Ridolfi and Strozzi families. Probably written by Ludovico degli Arrighi. Nic. Machiavelli, La Clizia. The ms. was discovered by Miss Beatrice Corrigan (see her article, "An Unrecorded Manuscript of Machiavelli's La Clizia", La Bibliofilia LXIII, 1961, pp. 73-87). My attention was first called to the article and to the ms. by the late Profes-

EDINBURGH

National Library of Scotland (1952)<sup>1</sup>

The old nucleus of the collection is formed by the Advocates' Library. It is completely described in an old inventory in 9 vols., arranged by subjects. Its older manuscripts are described in a handwritten inventory in 3 vols.: Catherine Robina Borland, A Catalogue of Mediaeval Manuscripts in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh (1906-1908). It is arranged by subjects. There is a recent printed catalogue of the same collection: National Library of Scotland, Summary Catalogue of the Advocates' Manuscripts, Edinburgh, 1971. It is also arranged by subjects and follows its own serial numbers rather than the shelf-marks. The entries are very brief, but the catalogue covers the later mss. not described in Miss Borland's inventory. For the Latin classical mss., see I. C. Cunningham, Scriptorium 27, 1973, pp. 64-90. I am indebted for additional information to Miss E. D. Yeo. Cf. Ker II, pp. 526-530.

Balcarres Papers

These are contained in Mss. Adv.16.2.3, 19.1.24, and 29.2.1-9a. According to a communication of Miss E. D. Yeo, the papers contain for the most part historical letters and documents of the 16th and 17th centuries, relating to Queen Mary of Lorraine, to John Lindsay, Lord Menmuir, and the first Earl of Balcarres. Of special interest is a Latin poem by Andrew Melville to Lord Menmuir (1597) in Adv.Ms. 29.2.8, no. 67, and an English letter of John Johnston to the same, ibid., no. 76 (Letters of John Johnston and Robert Howie, ed. James K. Cameron, Aberdeen, 1963, p. 120, no. 33).

Wodrow Collection

According to a communication of Miss E. D. Yeo, this is a collection of 200 vols. containing papers on Scottish history of the 17th and 18th centuries. Wodrow Mss. Folio XLII, no. 46 and Quarto XXII, no. 10 contain copies of a Latin letter of Andr. Melvinus and Joh. Johnstonus to Philippus du Plessis-Mornay. See Letters of John Johnston and Robert Howie, ed. James K. Cameron, Aberdeen, 1963, pp. 195-197, no. 51.

Denmylne Papers

According to a communication from Miss E. D. Yeo, this collection consists of 33 volumes of state papers of the 16th and 17th centuries. Vol. 16, no. 41 is an English letter of John Johnston to King James I (1606), ed. James K. Cameron (1963), p. 223, no. 59. Vol. 28, no. 47 contains an Italian poem of 20 lines, inc. Tornando dalla grave et dura impresa. Vol. 31, no. 13 contains a Latin political poem entitled Tripus Delpho-Gallica.

Among the mss. of the National Library there are several collections deposited by smaller Scottish libraries. They include the library of Blairs College, Aberdeen. The following manuscript was kindly verified for me by Miss E. D. Yeo.

University Library (1955)<sup>1</sup>

There are two separate collections, the Laing Mss., and the Non-Laing Mss. (the latter with shelf-marks beginning with D). The medieval manuscripts up to 1500 have been removed from both collections to form a separate group with serial numbers. I am indebted for much information to Mr. C. P. Finlayson.

Medieval Manuscripts

The old core of this group is described in a printed catalogue: Catherine R. Borland, A Descriptive Catalogue of the Western Medieval Manuscripts in Edinburgh University Library, Edinburgh, 1916. The mss. formerly in the Laing collection are also listed under their old shelf-marks in a printed (but not published) catalogue: List of Manuscript Books in the Collection of David Laing, LL.D. The library copy contains handwritten additions. Mr. Finlayson was good enough to send me a microfilm of this list. See now Ker II, pp. 589-624.

For the other mss. of the library, I used in 1952 an inventory in 1 ms. volume entitled Glasgow University Library, Catalogue of Manuscripts. It is divided into two sections, each of which is arranged alphabetically: List of Manuscripts belonging to the General Collection and to the Euing Collection (shelf-marks beginning with BE and BD, respectively), and List of Manuscripts belonging to the Hamilton Collection (shelf-marks beginning with BC). In 1971, I was shown a new inventory in 1 ms. volume entitled Glasgow University Library, Accessions Mss. It is arranged by accession numbers and covers the following collections: Bequest of David Murray; From the Library of John Ferguson (purchased 1921); From the Library of Sir William Hamilton (purchased 1878); General Manuscripts. In the new inventory the Euing mss. appear among the General Manuscripts, as do several other collections. The new inventory covers for the first time the Murray Collection, the Ferguson Collection and an additional part of the General Collection. Each collection now has its own serial numbers (which are different from, and do not follow the sequence of, the accession numbers), but at the time of my last visit only some of the Hamilton mss. had received new serial numbers; others still had their old shelf-marks (beginning with BC). I am indebted for information to Neil Ker, and for help to Mr. J. Baldwin. Valuable additional information was supplied by Mr. N. R. Thorp. Cf. now Ker II, pp. 871-933.

The following notes are taken from the more recent inventory arranged by accession numbers.

<sup>1</sup> The following mss. were examined and eliminated: B C 10 c 20. B C 10 x 25. B E 7 b 6. B E 7 b 9. B E 7 f 29. B E 7 x 5-10. B E 7 x 14. B E 8 d 20. B E 8 d 24. B E 8 e 17.

HATFIELD HOUSE (HERTFORDSHIRE)

Library of Lord Salisbury (1971)

The important collection of mss. known as Cecil Papers (CP) is cited by reference numbers. The older mss. up to 1612 are listed in a roughly chronological order in a series of volumes published by the Historical Manuscripts Commission and entitled Calendar of the Manuscripts of the Most Hon. The Marquis of Salisbury ... Preserved at Hatfield House, Hertfordshire, Parts I (London, 1883)-XXIII (1973). Beginning with Part V (1894), the reference number for each piece is indicated. For Parts I (1883)-IV (1892) the reference numbers are not given in the printed list but have to be ascertained on the spot or by correspondence. The chronological system of the printed list has the consequence that pieces found in the same volume and sometimes on the same page appear in separate sections of the printed list, usually without cross references, and that the content of a miscellaneous volume can be ascertained from the list only with great difficulty, and for the pieces listed in the first four parts not at all. I am indebted to the late Lord Salisbury for his permission to visit the library and to cite its manuscripts, and for extensive help and information to his librarian, Miss Clare Talbot.

HOLKHAM HALL (NORFOLK)

Library of the Earl of Leicester (1952)

The mss. are quite inadequately described in a printed catalogue which has no index (S. De Ricci, A Handlist of Manuscripts in the Library of the Earl of Leicester at Holkham Hall, abstracted from the catalogues of William Roscoe and Frederick Madden, Oxford, 1932, cf. Traditio VI, p. 284). As the title suggests, this catalogue is entirely based on a much more adequate handwritten inventory preserved in the library: Catalogue of Manuscripts in the Library of Holkham in the County of Norfolk belonging to Thomas William Coke Esq. M.P., compiled and arranged by William Roscoe, collated and enlarged by Frederick Madden (8 ms. vols., dated 1815-1828). The list is arranged by subjects, and at the same time in serial order. At the time of my visit, several mss. had already been transferred to the British Museum. A much larger number has since been transferred to the Bodleian Library (cf. The Bodleian Library Record V, 1954-56, pp. 61-63; VI, 1957, pp. 340-341). The relevant mss. now at the Bodleian have been kindly identified for me by Mr. W. O. Hassall. For the illuminated mss. see W. O. Hassall, The Holkham Library, Oxford, 1970 (with plates). Ibid., pp. 43-45: "Location of Books no longer at 'Holkham'".

LIVERPOOL

University Library (1955)

The Rylands manuscripts are described, without their shelf-marks or index, in a printed catalogue (John Sampson, A Catalogue of the Books, Printed and in Manuscript, Bequeathed by the Late Thomas Glazebrook Rylands of Highfields Thelwall Cheshire, Esquire, to the Library of University College, Liverpool, 1900, pp. 1-19). The designation "Rylands" has been abandoned by the library, according to information received from Mr. D. F. Cook in 1961.

A more complete list is given in an inventory, in two typed folders, entitled Hand List of Manuscripts (Ancient, Mediaeval and Modern) in the University Library, Liverpool. More recently, a list of the Western manuscripts, compiled by Mr. D. F. Cook, was published: A Guide to the Manuscript Collections in Liverpool University Library, Liverpool, 1962, pp. 9-25.

LONDON

British Museum, now British Library (1949, 1952, 1955, 1962, 1963, 1966, 1968-71, 1973, 1975, 1978, 1981, 1983)<sup>1</sup>

The manuscript collections of the British Museum are all described in printed catalogues, except for the most recent acquisitions. For a list of the printed (and unpublished) catalogues, see T. C. Skeat, British Museum, The Catalogues of the Manuscript Collections, London, 1951; revised edition, 1962. These catalogues greatly vary in quality, and there is no consolidated index of authors even in manuscript form. I was encouraged by the late Dr. C. E. Wright to give as much information as possible on the mss. pertinent to this project, and was much helped in my task by Dr. Wright, Dr. D. P. Waley and their collaborators. The following catalogues describe mss. selected from all collections of the British Library according to their language or content. They will be referred to wherever pertinent: G. Fanchiotti, I Manoscritti Italiani in Inghilterra, 3 vols., London and Caserta, 1899-1902. Frederico Francisco de la Figanière, Catálogo dos Manuscritos Portuguezes existentes no Museu Britânico, Lisbon, 1853. C. Foligno, "Codici di materia Veneta nelle biblioteche inglesi", Nuovo Archivio Veneto, N.S. 10,1 (1905), pp. 89-128; 11,1 (1906), 171-186; 11,2 (1906), 162-193; 12,1 (1906), 193-207; 12,2 (1906), 332-347; 13,1 (1907), 185-200; 13,2 (1907), 158-173; 14,1 (1907), 209-224; 14,2 (1907), 352-367; 15,1 (1908), 210-224. ### Sloane Manuscripts

The Sloane collection consists of 4100 manuscripts. They are listed in the old printed catalogue by S. Ayscough, A Catalogue of the Manuscripts Preserved in the British Museum Hitherto Undes- cribed, London, 1782, in 2 vols. but with continuous pagination. This catalogue is quite inadequate; it does not follow the sequence of shelf-marks but is arranged by subjects. It has an index of authors, and a concordance of shelf-marks. A copy in the Library has been cut up and rearranged by shelf-marks. It contains corrections in ink, for a few shelf-marks given by Ayscough have been changed. Some mss. have two shelf-marks, and should be cited with both. There is also a printed index (Edward J. L. Scott, Index to the Sloane Manuscripts in the British Museum, London, 1904) and the library has unpublished inventories that are more detailed. They have been used for the excerpts below.

I have omitted numerous mss. of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries containing excerpts, English translations of Renaissance authors or biographical data concerning them. These mss. can be easily found through Scott and Ayscough.

For mss. Sloane 1-1090 there is, in addition to Ayscough, a printed catalogue that has never been published, entitled Catalogus Librorum Manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Sloanianae.

Additional Manuscripts

The Additional Manuscripts begin with no. 4101, continuing the numbers of the Sloane mss. Up to no. 5017 they are covered by the old printed catalogue by S. Ayscough, A Catalogue of the Manuscripts Preserved in the British Museum Hitherto Undescribed, 2 vols., with continuous pagination, 1782. There is a copy in the library that has been cut up and rearranged in the order of shelf-marks. It is entitled: Catalogue of the Sloane, Birch and Additional Mss. in the British Museum (1782), Part II. See now: Catalogue of Additions to the Manuscripts 1756-1782. Additional Manuscripts 4101-5017, London, 1977. This catalogue mentions many items only in the index. Mss. 4101-4478 are also known as Birch manuscripts but are usually referred to as Additional mss. The Additional mss. proper begin with no. 4479.

Beginning with no. 10018, the Additional Mss. are described in a series of printed catalogues which follow the chronological sequence of their acquisition. They are arranged for each group in the order of the shelf-marks. The quality of the descriptions improves with each volume. There are indices for each volume. The absence of a consolidated index may justify our decision to include the following excerpts.

Add. Mss. 48719-48799 contain that part of the so-called Medici Archives which was acquired in 1919 by the late Sir Henry Wellcome, and presented to the British Museum by the Wellcome Foundation in 1955 (cf. K. W. Gransden, "The Medici Papers", The British Museum Quarterly 20, 1955-56, pp. 28-30; E. Armstrong, English Historical Review 38, 1918, pp. 10-20). The collection is described in two different sales catalogues. The first is entitled Catalogue of the Medici Archives ... The Property of the Marquis Cosimo de' Medici and the Marquis Averardo de' Medici, Which will be sold by Auction by Messrs. Christie, Manson & Woods ... On Monday, 4 February 1918 and Three Following Days (186 pp., 783 lots). Upon the intervention of the Italian Government, the sale was stopped, and the Italian Government acquired a certain number of pieces which now form the Carte Medici Tornaquinci at the Archivio di Stato in Florence (see Iter II, p. 505). The remainder of the collection is described in a second catalogue entitled Catalogue of the Medici Archives ... the Property of The Marquis Cosimo de' Medici and The Marquis Averardo de' Medici, which will be sold by auction by Messrs. Christie, Manson & Woods..., London, on Monday, 26 May 1919 and Two Following Days (123 pp., 609 lots). A large part of the items described in the second (as well as in the first) catalogue now forms the Selfridge Collection of the Graduate School of Business of Harvard University. A concordance between the lots now in the British Library and the second sales catalogue was kindly supplied to me by the late Dr. C. E. Wright, who also sent me a microfilm of Ms. Add. 48799, being a copy of the 1919 catalogue in which the lots acquired by Sir Henry Wellcome, by the John Rylands Library and by the Harvard Graduate School of Business are marked by appropriate marginal notes. The following pieces that are of special interest for our project were subsequently identified by Miss P. J. Porter.

Cotton Manuscripts

This collection is completely described in two printed catalogues: Th. Smith, Catalogus Librorum Manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Cottonianae, Oxford, 1696; J. Planta, A Catalogue of the Manuscripts in the Cottonian Library Deposited in the British Museum, London, 1802. The second catalogue is better, but the first catalogue describes the collection before it was damaged by fire in 1731.

Harley Manuscripts

This important collection is completely, though not adequately, described in a printed catalogue: A Catalogue of the Harleian Manuscripts in the British Museum, 4 vols., London, 1808-1812. Much information on the history of the collection and on many individual mss. will be found in the following work: The Diary of Humphrey Wanley, 1715-1726, ed. C. E. Wright and Ruth C. Wright, 2 vols., London, 1966. For the previous owners of Harley mss., see Cyril E. Wright, Fontes Harleiani, London, 1972, cited below as Fontes, and the detailed review of this work by Andrew G. Watson, The Journal of the Society of Archivists 4, 1973, pp. 603-609. See also: Cyril E. Wright, "Manuscripts of Italian Provenance in the Harleian Collection ...", in Cultural Aspects of the Italian Renaissance, ed. C. H. Clough, Manchester, 1976, pp. 462-484. ### Lincoln's Inn Library (1962)

The bulk of the manuscripts is described in a printed catalogue: Joseph Hunter, A Catalogue of the Manuscripts in the Library of the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn, London, 1838. It is also published as Part III in Hunter's Three Catalogues, London, 1838, pp. 251-413. The Library copy has typed addenda and an index. My attention was called to the importance of the collection by Professor Josef Soudek.

Excerpts

Public Record Office (1962, 1968, 1969)

The state papers for the period of Henry VIII are in S.P.1/1-246, the Folios of the same period in S.P.2/1-20, and the Theological Tracts in S.P.6/1-13. Cf. Guide to the Manuscripts Preserved in the Public Record Office, Vol. II, London, 1924, pp. 3-4; List of Volumes of State Papers Relating to Great Britain and Ireland ... Preserved in the Public Record Office, London, 1914, pp. 1-5. All or most of these papers are published or summarized in Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the Reign of Henry VIII, Preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum and Elsewhere in England, 21 vols. (1862-1910); Vol. 1, 2nd ed. (1920); Addenda (1920-32). Only the second edition of Vol. 1 and the Addenda give references to the specific volumes of the original documents. In the Search Room there is a typed set of 7 vols. entitled: Calendar of State Papers, Henry VIII, Key. It covers Vols. 2-21 and gives for each printed document (in the order of the printed volumes) its manuscript source.

Description

S.P.1/104 A. cart. XVI. 290 pp. Perhaps written in Italy.

Anon. treatise, dated 1536 and identified in a handwritten addition to the List of Volumes as De vinitate (sic, for divinitate) Ecclesiae by Reginald Pole, inc. Quid ad te hoc tempore scribam. Corrections.

The following collections are also of interest and are summarily described in handwritten or typed inventories kept in the Round Room.

8/79 (typed). Class List of Collections of Transcripts.

8/80 (handwritten). List of Roman Transcripts unbound at the Rolls House, September 1886. It lists for the most part letters, in chronological order, and contains letters of Petrus de Monte.

8/81 (handwritten). Additional List of Roman Transcripts sent to the Public Record Office 1897-1900.

These volumes survey the transcripts, and the first volume gives their actual shelf-marks.

Wellcome Historical Medical Library.

Now Library of the Wellcome Institute for the History of Medicine (1955, 1978)

The library sold a sizable part of its mss. after 1945. For the remaining mss. I used an alphabetical card index, and a shorter cross-index for the mss. before 1500. I am indebted for additional information to Mr. C. H. Talbot and to Mr. S. A. J. Moorat. In the meantime, a detailed catalogue has been published: S. A. J. Moorat, Catalogue of Western Manuscripts on Medicine and Science in the Wellcome Historical Medical Library, Vol. I: Mss. written before 1650, London, 1962; Vol. II (in 2 parts): Manuscripts written after 1650 A.D., London, 1973 (with Supplement to Vol. I). Each volume is arranged alphabetically and contains many cross-references. The serial numbers of this catalogue now serve as shelf-marks, and have been adopted here. I thank Dr. Vivian Nutton for further information.

Tractatus de consecratione ecclesie. Sermones. Extracta de penitentiali romano. Quedam tabula*. f.1 (English hand). In isto quaterno continentur Ysagoge Johannis. Liber pronosticorum Ypocratis. Liber afforismorum Ypocratis. Liber urinarum a voce Theophili. Liber Philareti de pulsibus. The remainder of the page is blank, except for an erased note. f.1v-2 (Beneventan script). (Anon., comm. on Johannis), inc. Quoniam Galienus inter copiosam. 2v-14 (title in red). Incipiunt Ysagoge Joannitii ad tegni G(alieni) archiatri, inc. Medicina dividitur in duas partes, with some glosses. At the end (in red): Explicit ysagogarum. 14-22v (title in red). Incipit liber pronosticorum Ypocratis, inc. Omnis qui medicine artis studio, with a few glosses. At the end (in red): Explicit liber pronosticorum. 22v-23. (Anon., preface to Hippocrates, Aphorisms, attributed elsewhere to Oribasius), inc. Aforismorum Ypocratis huius nove edicionis. 23v-38. (Hippocrates, Aphorisms), inc. Vita brevis ars vero longa, with a few glosses. At the end (in red): Explicit liber aforismorum. 38-47 bis (title in red). Incipit liber urinarum avoce Theophili, inc. (D)e urinarum differentia negotium. At the end: Explicit liber urinarum. 47 bis-52v. Incipit Philareti de pulsibus, inc. Intencionem habemus. There is no indication that there is a loss of text at the end, and the 3 (not 8) leaves cut out after f.52 may merely have been used for binding this part of the manuscript. 53-55 (other hand, not Beneventan, and other fascicule), 2 coll. (Gul. Bladby Blesensis, de poenitentia), inc. Omnis etas hominis. 55v-60v (other hand). Extracts. 61-65v. Anon., theological treatise, inc. Primo fiat inquisicio de fide. Other religious pieces, in many different hands and fascicules. f.124. De sex alis Cherubin (attributed in the catalogue to Alanus de Insulis, and in the table above, f.IV verso to Bernardus). The old ms. B 357 begins here or before, but it is clear that the old ms. M 27 apparently included more than f.1-52, containing the medical texts of the Articella in Beneventan script.

Major J. R. Abbey (1955 and 1966)

The mss. of interest to me were kindly shown to me by the owner, some in Storrington (Sussex) in 1955, and others in London in 1966. I am indebted for additional information to Dr. Albinia C. de la Mare and to Mr. Jonathan Alexander, who have since published a catalogue of the Italian manuscripts (The Italian Manuscripts in the Library of Major J. R. Abbey, London, 1969).

Major Abbey has since died, and some of his manuscripts were sold at Sotheby's in 1970-1978. I received much information on the mss. from Dr. de la Mare. Cf. A. R. A. Hobson, French and Italian Collectors and their Bindings Illustrated from Examples in the Library of J. R. Abbey, Oxford, 1953.

There is a typed list entitled: Checklist of Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts. The mss. were kindly shown to me by Dr. Lawn who also sent me additional information. More recently, he has made a new typed catalogue of his entire library entitled Catalogus Bibliothecae Lawnianae, which has a special section entitled Catalogus Manuscriptorum. A microfilm of this new catalogue was kindly placed at my disposal by Dr. Lawn, and I have used it to correct and supplement the information I had previously collected on this library.

Mr. Philip Robinson (1983)

Description

ms. Helmingham Hall 58. mbr. misc. s.XIII. 2 col. II, 89 fols. Several hands. From Bury St. Edmunds (the shelf-mark M 36 appears on the upper right corner of f.1). I am indebted for much information to Dr. Brian Lawn. On the inside of the front cover: Liber fratris Thome Neylend (s.XV).

f.1-II (I column, perhaps s.XII). A theological fragment. f.IIv (in the margin, vertical): *Subscripta continentur in hoc libro. Diete universales. Aforismi Ypocratis. Liber Troitile (sic). Practica Cophonis Salernitani. Ysagoge Johannicii. Philaretus de pulsibus. f.1 (2 coll.)-34v. (Isaac, diete universales, tr. Constantinus Africanus), fragm. at the beginning of the preface, inc. (Q)uod in primis coegit antiquos disputare. des. quibus competit sicut delicatis et quietis. 35-36. (Sapientia artis medicinae), inc. Quatuor sunt venti. 36v-59v. (Gariopontus, passionarius), inc. Cephaea est dolor capitis, with a preface (f.36, inc. Si quis desiderat scire intencionem tocius libri). 60-75v (other hand, title by a later hand): *Copho in medicinam, inc. Quatuor sunt elementa ex quibus creantur quatuor humores, with a fragmentary preface. At the end: *Explicit practica Cophonis Salernitani. 76-84. (Title in the upper right margin by another hand): Ysagoge Johannicii, inc. (M)edicina dividitur in duas partes, apparently incomplete at the end (des. ordinis boni malive discretionem). The first part of the text (f.76-79v) is accompanied by a marginal commentary, inc. Sex requiruntur in principio huius operis, scilicet materia, modus tractandi, intentio auctoris, utilitas audiendi (?), cui parti philosophiae supponatur, des. cum aliquis pro illatis iniuriis vindictam (?) excogitatum implere non valet (corresponding to the section on apostemata). This seems to be a fragment of the commentary once preserved in ms. Chartres 171, f.1-12, of which only the beginning and ending pages have been preserved. The beginning is the same, whereas the difference in the ending may be due to the fact that the commentary in our manuscript is incomplete. 84v-86v. *Liber Philareti de pulsibus, inc. Intentionem habemus, with a marginal commentary (inc. Exponere significat quod ea que hic determinat de pulsu). 86v. Alia de pulsibus edictio, inc. Pulsus dividitur in duas partes. 87-87v. inc. Colera nigra duobus modis fit, with a gloss. 87v-89. De heresibus medicorum, inc. Triplex autem heresis medicorum differentes et dissonas artis medicinalis doctrinas induxit (perhaps the beginning pages of the commentary of Bartholomaeus of Salerno on Hippocrates' Aphorisms).

MANCHESTER

Chetham's Library (1955)

There are two printed catalogues, neither of them complete: J. O. Halliwell, An Account of the European Manuscripts in the Chetham Library, Manchester (1842). Bibliotheca Chethamensis (II, 1791, 618-622; III, 1826, 165-174; IV, 1862, 424-449; VI, 1883, 367-382). Some manuscripts are better described in the following volume: A Catalogue of the Library of the late John Byrom (by B. R. Wheatley, 1848). The valid shelf-marks appear only in the Bibliotheca Chethamensis. There are several overlapping inventories on which I received much information from Mr. C. Faley, and finally a pack of typed pages which represents the beginning of a new catalogue. The librarian kindly showed me all older mss. not yet described in this new catalogue. I am indebted for additional information to Miss Anne C. Snape.

MANCHESTER

University Library of Manchester (1955)<sup>1</sup>

The John Rylands Library (see above) has recently been merged with the Library of Manchester University, and the manuscript collections of the University Library have been transferred to the building of the John Rylands Library, according to a communication from Mr. Frank Taylor.

The Bullock Collection contains no humanist mss.

The Christie Collection is briefly described, without shelf-marks, in a printed catalogue: Charles W. E. Leigh, Catalogue of the Christie Collection, Manchester, 1915, pp. 461-469. The shelf-marks, which are temporary, have been added in the library copy of the catalogue. Some additional ones were kindly supplied by Miss Glenise Matheson.

MOUNT STUART (ROTHESAY, ISLE OF BUTE)

Library of Lord Bute

Printed information on the collection is available in the Third Report of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts, London, 1872, pp. 202-209: "The Manuscripts of the Most Honourable the Marquis of Bute, at Eccleston Square", by B. B. Knowles; pp. 402-403: "The Manuscripts of the Most Honourable the Marquis of Bute at Mountstuart, Rothesay", by John Stuart. The second list mentions only archival documents. The first covers the manuscript books, now also preserved at Mount Stuart, but it is incomplete and gives no shelf-marks. Shelf-marks of mss. pertinent to our project were supplied by Miss Catherine Arnet who also sent me photostats and a list of additional mss., and arranged for me to see one of the mss. in Glasgow. I am much indebted to Lord Bute for permission to cite his mss., and to Miss Arnet for help and information. Some of the more important manuscripts were sold at Sotheby's (13 June 1983): see Catalogue of the Bute Collection of Forty-Two Illuminated Manuscripts and Miniatures.

I (Historical Introduction and Conspectus of Shelf-Marks, edited by R. W. Hunt), 1953, pp. 1-46. Some groups of mss. are more fully described in the so-called Quarto catalogue series: Catalogi codicum manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Bodleianae, 9 parts, 1853-83. For manuscript fragments found in printed books, see Neil R. Ker, Fragments of Medieval Manuscripts used as Pastedowns in Oxford Bindings (Oxford, 1954). See also O. Pächt and J. J. G. Alexander, Illuminated Manuscripts in the Bodleian Library, 3 vols., Oxford, 1966-1973.

The acquisitions after 1915 are listed in several typed volumes, continuing Madan, and arranged by serial numbers: Summary Catalogue of Western Mss. in the Bodleian Library, Accessions 1916-18, Nos. 37300-40358; Accessions 1919-21, Nos. 40359-41538; Accessions 1922-23, Nos. 41539-42021. There are also several handlists for different collections, such as for the Italian mss. (shelf-mark 187), Lat. Misc. (208), Lat. Hist. (351), Donations and Manuscript Donations. There is a box containing handwritten descriptions. Finally, there is a typed list of mss. not in Madan, arranged by subjects (shelf-mark R. 7.3), of which Vol. I lists the mediaeval mss. and Vol. 2 A the autographs.

Printed Editions with handwritten notes

A handwritten index, entitled List of Editions of the Classica with Marginalia and arranged alphabetically by classical authors, is kept in the library as R 13,130 (Ms. Top. Oxon. c.310, also R 13.76). My attention was called to it by Professor Anthony Grafton, and I received a microfilm of it from Dr. Albina de la Mare.

WHALLEY, LANCASHIRE

Some of the mss. are briefly listed or discussed in the Second Report of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts (1871), Appendix, pp. 143-146, and in the Third Report (1872), Appendix, pp. 334-341. Most of the older mss. are described in a manuscript volume entitled: Catalogue of the Manuscripts in the Stonyhurst Library, Part I: Manuscripts written before 1550, chiefly on vellum (there is no part II). The preface is signed C.B. and dated 1862. This list has 78 nos., and a typed concordance attached to it indicates for each manuscript its location, either in one of the showcases or in the archives.

*Winchester College
The Warden and Fellows' Library (1952)<sup>1</sup>*

There is a folder containing some handwritten sheets and entitled Catalogue of Mss. A topographical list. It goes to no. 76, but some numbers are skipped, and at the end some mss. are listed without numbers. There is in the same folder a shorter typed list which is not arranged in serial order. It adds one ms. not contained in the larger list, and gives serial numbers for two of the unnumbered mss. See now P. Yeats-Edwards, Winchester College (Warden and Fellows' Library), Mediaeval Manuscripts Collection, London, 1978. The lists and manuscripts, like those of the Cathedral Library, were kindly shown to me by Sir Walter Oakeshott, then Headmaster of Winchester College.

This group was formed some time ago by taking the older manuscripts out of the larger group called Codices Manuscripti Latini. Most of Clmae 1-449 are described in a printed catalogue which skips a few mss. of the 16th century: A Magyar Nemzeti Múzeum Országos Széchényi Könyvtárának, Cimjegyzéke XII. Codices manu scripti latini, Vol. I: Codices latini medii aevi, by Emma Bartoniek, Budapest, 1940. Cf. E. Hoffmann, A Nemzeti Múzeum Széchényi Könyvtárának Illuminált Kéziratai, Budapest, 1928. Cf. the handwritten list, Codices medii aevi, which covers also the mss. omitted in Bartoniek.

MÉXICO, D.F.

There is a card file in three boxes, arranged by places (box I), by authors (box II) and by subjects (box III). A few separate collections of a monastic origin are not included. There is a typed list of philosophical mss. (by Osorio) which was prepared for the International Congress of Philosophy in 1963 and includes the mss. exhibited on that occasion. It is arranged by centuries, and alphabetically for each century, and it covers both mss. and editions. There is a typed card file by Gerardo Decorme S.J., dated 1943 and entitled Mifichero. Breve guía bibliográfica de los Jesuitas Mexicanos en la época colonial (ms. 1804). According to a communication from Sr. Octavio Gordillo Ortiz, dated 28 Jan. 1986, the manuscript collection suffered no damage from the earthquake of September 1985.

Excerpts

537. Ant. Arias S.J. (s.XVI), theological writings.
1150. misc. XVIII. f.1. Melchor Cano, Parecer (1555).

1580. cart. XVII-XVIII. Cayetano Xavier de Cabrera y Quintero, lusus poetici allegorici.

A number of mss. in Mexico, as well as in Bogotá (Colombia), Quito (Ecuador) and Lima (Peru), are cited by Walter Bernard Redmond, Bibliography of the Philosophy in the Iberian Colonies of America, The Hague, 1972. Most of the mss. referred to are too late for our purpose. Moreover, the line between philosophy and theology is not clearly drawn, whereas other branches of learning such as law, medicine, mathematics, grammar and rhetoric are excluded. Finally, the information, though useful, has been compiled largely at second hand, and the shelf-marks are either wrong or antiquated whenever I was able to check them. The following entries in Redmond are of interest, and their shelf-marks have kindly been verified for me by Dr. Margit Frenk.

AMSTERDAM

Bibliotheek der Universiteit (1958, 1976)

Most of the mss. are described in a printed catalogue: Bibliotheek der Universiteit van Amsterdam, Catalogus der Handschriften, 7 vols., Amsterdam, 1899-1923. See also: Catalogus Bibliothecae Publicae Amstelredamensis (1796). Gids voor de Bibliotheek (1919). The old core of the mss. is described in Vol. 2 of the Catalogus. The Schenking Diederichs, a large collection of autographs, is described in Vols. 1, 3, 5 and 6 and subdivided by countries. The Italian section of the Diederichs collection is covered by Vol. 6 (1917). For the older pieces in the Italian section, see also F. Novati, "I manoscritti italiani d'alcune biblioteche del Belgio e dell'Olanda", Rassegna bibliografica della letteratura italiana 2, 1894, pp. 199-208; 242-248.

HAARLEM

Stadsbibliotheek (1955)

The more important mss. are described in a printed catalogue: Catalogus Bibliothecae Publicae Harlemensis, Haarlem, 1848, pp. 1-21. It has no index, and fails to give the new shelf-marks. More recently, an offset printed list has been published: Lijst van Handschriften aanwezig op de Stadsbibliotheek en Leeszaal te Haarlem, n.d. It is arranged alphabetically by authors and gives the new shelf-marks. It does not give the old shelf-marks, and its descriptions are very summary.

'S HERTOGENBOSCH

Provinciaal Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen in Noord-Brabant, Bibliotheek

Most mss. of the library are described in the following printed catalogue: A. F. O. van Sasse van Ysselt, Nieuwe Catalogus der Oorkonden en Handschriften berustende in de Boekerij van het Provinciaal Genootschap van Kunsten en Wetenschappen in Noord-Brabant, 's Hertogenbosch, 1900; Eerste Supplement, 1915. This catalogue fails to list the most famous manuscript of the collection about which I received information from the librarian, Mrs. C. Ingen-Housz.

Excerpt

ms. 667. Known as Scriverius manuscript. misc. XVI. Erasmus, letters; orations; poems. Andr. Frusius S. J., poem in praise of Erasmus. Letters of Cornelius Goudanus and Guilielmus Goudanus. Cf. A. A. J. Karthon, "Het verloren Erasmiaansch Handschrift van P. Scriverius, Teruggevonden in 's Hertogenbosch", Het Boek V, 1916, pp. 113-129, esp. 117-119. The ms. was until recently kept among the printed books, with the shelf-mark L 197, and mentioned as such in a catalogue of the printed books (Catalogus der Boekerij van het Provinciaal Genootschap voor Kunsten en Wetenschappen in Noord-Brabant, Vierde Gedeelte, 's Hertogenbosch, 1890, p. 835).

LEIDEN

Bibliotheek der Rijksuniversiteit (1949, 1955, 1966, 1969, 1970, 1976)<sup>1</sup>

Most of the mss. of the library have been described in printed catalogues, some of them more than once, although not always adequately. The oldest nucleus is described in the Catalogus librorum tam impressorum quam manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Publicae Universitatis Lugduno-Batavae, by W. Senguerd and others (Leiden, 1716, with a supplement of 1741). Both catalogues were supplemented by the good catalogue of J. Geel, Catalogus librorum manuscriptorum qui inde ab anno 1741 Bibliothecae Lugduno-Batavae accesserunt, Leiden, 1852. A fairly complete but summary list of the main collections was published in 1932: Bibliotheca Academiae Lugduno-Batavae, Catalogus, Deel 14: Inventaris van de Handschriften, Eerste Afdeeling. This list is supplemented by a list of the senders of letters found in mss. of all collections, and a list of recipients of letters (Deel 22, 1934: Epistolaria et alba amicorum, Index nominum memorabilium quae in epistolaris et albis amicorum Bibliothecae Lugduno-Batavae inveniuntur; Deel 26, 1935: Index nominum memorabilium eorum ad quos datae epistolae in Bibliotheca Lugduno-Batava asservantur). Another series of catalogues begun in 1910 that describes the manuscripts by collections has now arrived at volume XX and is not yet complete: Bibliotheca Universitatis Leidensis, Codices Manuscripti. There is also a handwritten inventory, in 6 vols., entitled Catalogus Manuscriptorum Bibliothecae Lugduno Batavae. It contains the only complete description of all mss. and is still needed, especially for some of the Codices Bibliothecae Publicae Latini that were omitted in Codd. Mss. III, 1912, or acquired after that date. We shall list and describe the collections in alphabetical order and refer to the two printed series as Catalogus and Codices where pertinent. The catalogues also cover several collections deposited in the library, especially the "Maatschappij der Nederlandsche Letterkunde", which is described in Catalogus, Deel 35 (1936) and Deel 37 (1937), and partly in Codices V (1948). I am indebted for much information to Dr. P. F. J. Obbema.

Collection of letters, most of them from and to Bonav. Vulcanius. It includes: Julius Pflug, ad Menterum de dialectis Graecis et Ciceroniano Erasmi.

The numerous letters contained in the mss. are not always mentioned in the printed catalogues of the various collections. The indispensable key to these letters is the printed lists of senders and of recipients published in two sections of the general catalogue of the library.

Deel 22 (1934): Index nominum memorabilium quae in epistolariis et albis amicorum Bibliothecae Lugduno-Batavae inveniuntur. This is an alphabetical list of senders which also gives the recipients in each case. The following senders are of special interest for our purpose:

Maatschappij der Nederlandsche Letterkunde

This library which contains many manuscripts, for the most part in Dutch, is deposited and housed in the University Library. It is described in the following printed catalogues: Catalogus der Bibliothek van de Maatschappij der Nederlandsche Letterkunde, by H. C. Rogge, S. G. de Vries and L. D. Petit, 5 parts in 3 vols., Leiden, 1887-89. The mss. are described in Vol. I, pt. 1, pp. 1-86. Vol. 3 contains the index to the mss. Bibliotheca Academiae Lugduno-Batavae, Catalogus, Deel 37 (1937) contains another more complete list of the mss., which is supplemented in Deel 35 (1936) by a list of the letters. Mss. 168-360 are also described in Codices V (1948), by G. I. Liefstinck. I am indebted for much information about this collection to Dr. P. F. J. Obbema.

The bulk of the collection is well described in a printed catalogue: P. A. Tiele and A. Hulshof, Catalogus codicum manu scriptorum Bibliothecae Universitatis Rheno-Traiectinae, 2 vols., Utrecht, 1887-1909. This catalogue does not give the actual shelf-marks. These have been kindly supplied to me by Dr. P. M. M. Geurts who insists that they should not be cited without also mentioning the serial numbers of the catalogue. The recent acquisitions are described in a card file arranged by shelf-marks and entitled: Supplement Handschriftencatalogus.

BERGEN

Universitetsbiblioteket (1976)

The mss. which formerly belonged to the Bergens Museum are described in a printed catalogue: A. M. Wiesener, Katalog over Bergens Museums manuskriptsamling, Bergen, 1913. I was greatly helped in my work by Mr. Mattias Tveitane.

Descriptions

Ms. 28. mbr. XIII in. (a.1200). Cf. Wiesener, pp. 9-10.

Jerome, comm. on the Gospel of Matthew and other writings. Anno milleno ducentenoque peracto Ilbaldus librum Levites scripserat istum ...

Ms. 50. cart. XVI ex. 255 unnumbered fols. Cf. Wiesener, p. 14. Information supplied by Mr. Mattias Tveitane.

A commonplace book, consisting for the most part of Biblical excerpts. The names, sometimes with short excerpts, of Hus, Luther, Melanchthon, Brentius, Georgius Maior, Roterodamus and Selnecker occur. There is a signature of Severinus Christierni Norwegus Bergensis (Søren Christensen), but his hand is different from that which wrote the texts. At the end of Machabees I: Hanc (tabulam?) accepi a bibliis in Islandia impressis. At the end of Esdras IV: A nativitate Christi ad hunc usque diem anni 1592 sunt. (Next page): Versus Henningii.

Lib. rar. 83. Horace, Ars poetica, impr. Deventer, s.a. (ca. 1490, Campbell 996). The volume was shown to me by Mr. Tveitane. Cf. M. Tveitane, Nordisk Tidskrift för Bok- och Biblioteksväsen 51, 1964, pp. 59-60.

f. A I (ms. s.XV ex.). A prose piece, inc. De variis oculis scribendi modis sciendum est. f. B IV (ms. s.XVI). Bononia ad R.m dnm Alfonsum (Carillo) Sancti Eustachii diaconum Cardinalem Hispanum ibidem legatum, a poem of 28 lines, inc. En lacerata diu fuis succincta capillis. f. B IV verso (same hand). De eo quo supra eiusque in urbem (deleted: Rhonam) ingressu Bononiensem, a poem of 22 lines, inc. Cedebant (?) rapidi tunc sydera clara leonis, des. Mille quadringentos bis denos lucifer annos/Volverat Augusti quinta tunc luce vicena.

Lib. rar. 85. Ovid, impr. Cologne, 1518. Cf. Tveitane, l.c., 58.
